Human knowledge develops with scientists' hard work. Many great men and women try hard to find facts, solve problems and invent things.

Some of these scientists did not have easy lives. But they tried hard when they were working on problems. They never felt weak when they were studying. They never gave up when they were doing research. There are great stories about scientists and their lives. One such a story is about Thomas Edison. As a young boy, Edison was very interested in science. He was very energetic and always asked questions. Sadly, young Edison lost his hearing at the age of 12. He did not attend school and learned science by reading books in the library himself.

- 29) Where did Edison learn science? a) In the library b) At school c) In the laboratory
- 30) Which is not true about scientists?
 a) They find facts b) They invent things c) They feel weak
- 31) Edison did not attend school at all. T F

Tourism has changed a lot over the past few decades. It is actually quite a new thing. It probably didn't exist fifty years ago. The only people who travel then were rich, and they were called travellers. I guess tourism started to grow when airplane travel became cheap. The idea of foreign travel suddenly became very popular. There is hardly a corner of the earth untouched by tourism. The number of tourists is also rocketing. Millions of people from Russia, India, and China, are now taking vacation. Tourism really is making the world a global village.
